RED DEMANDS
UPSET HOPES
FOR BIG FOURACCORD UNLIKELY
ON PEACE PACT
FOR GERMANY

London, Dec. 10 (P)—The United States was understood today to be planning an effort to force Soviet Foreign Ministers V. M. Molotov to lift the curtain on affairs in the Russian occupation zone of Germany.

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and his advisers are reported to be contending that unless Russia furnishes information on conditions in their zone, it will be difficult, if not impossible, for the council of foreign ministers to arrive at substantial agreement on German unification.

As today's Big Four session opened, western diplomats said Russia's demand for $10,000,000,000 (billion) reparations from Germany, largely from current production, may well be the issue that could break up the conference. This view apparently is behind western representatives' efforts to draw from Molotov an explanation of his statement that the question of reparations and German economic unity could be considered simultaneously.

Although there seems to be little prospect of substantial agreement here, western officials decline to predict when the conference may end. Secretary Marshall himself is understood to have no idea yet when he may return home.

Western leaders frankly recognize that they are at a disadvantage in this conference because, while Molotov has fairly complete knowledge of the western occupation zones of Germany, the western representatives have only a hazy idea of conditions in the Soviet zone.

The Americans believe there can be no agreement on economic unity unless specific problems such as reparations and free exchange of information on conditions all over Germany can be solved. The western powers thus are trying to find out just how far Molotov is willing to go to meet these problems.

British Plan Stiff
Measures To Halt
Holy Land Fighting

Jerusalem, Dec. 10 (P)—High Commissioner Sir Alan G. Cunningham warned today that the British would take severe measures against both Arabs and Jews of Palestine unless they halted the communal strife which has cost 127 lives in 11 days.

Six Jews were killed today in the latest outbreak of Arab anger against the United Nations decision to divide the Holy Land into Arab and Jewish states. The attack took place on the Jewish settlement of Gevulot, near Gaza, on the southern coast. Police drove off the attackers with gunfire.

Unofficial reports told of attacks on three or four other Jewish settlements in the Southern Negeb desert area.

Conservation Staff
Not Marked For
Purge, Says Sigler

Lansing, Dec. 10 (P)—Governor Sigler sought today to quiet sportsmen's fears he intends a political raid on the state conservation department.

He telegraphed the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, preparing for their state convention this weekend, that he had no intention of putting the department "in politics."

His message followed press comment resulting from his previous statements which were taken by some to mean he intends to "reorganize" that agency.

"I hope," Sigler wired President Louis D. McGregor of Flint, "that your group does not arrive at wrong conclusions, as some writers have, in connection with my recent remarks on the reorganization of government, especially as it might affect the state conservation department."

"It has never been my intent to put that department in politics; the mere fact that I mentioned reorganization, and used conservation as one example of a department over which the governor has no direct control, has caused a lot of people to indulge in unfounded speculation."

"That is one of the primary reasons for some of the poor government we have had in this state. The minute the governor attempts to do anything for the good of the people, some individuals start lumping to conclusions that the 'boat may be rocked.'"

RAGS-TO-RICHES
OIL MUGUL DIESFamed Texan, R. E. Lacy,
Founded Vast Fortune
On 1931 Discovery

Longview, Tex., Dec. 10 (P)—Rogers E. Lacy, a fabulously rich oil rags-to-riches fable, is dead.

The 63-year-old multimillionaire, in failing health, died yesterday.

Lacy, who left the life of a small town merchant to "wildcat" found a fortune in the vast East Texas oil discovery of 1931 and expanded until he was considered one of the richest men in Texas at the time of his death.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

The widely known Lacy had been in ill health since Sept. 29 when he suffered a heart attack. Lacy worked as a telegrapher in his youth.

He went into the sawmill business, then later into farming and mercantile ventures in Kilgore, Tex., and in Gregg and Upshur counties.

He became a trader of leases when indications of oil first appeared in East Texas.

This venture almost broke him, but he hung on until 1931 when the East Texas field was discovered. As his fortune expanded, he built refineries and pipelines and his leases bulged with flowing wells.

His holdings stretched throughout Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Recently he had branched into other fields.

One of his latest ventures was a proposed $10,000,000 hotel to be built in Dallas. The project had been in inactive status because of his ill health.

Fire Kills Three
Army Officers On Exercise Snowdrop

Pine Camp, N. Y., Dec. 10 (P)—Three Army officers assigned to "exercise snowdrop" winter maneuvers were burned to death and six others were injured early today in a fire which destroyed a two-story fire barracks at this northern New York military reservation.

One officer was missing. Eight others leaped to safety from first and second story windows of the flaming barracks. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The winter maneuvers, "exercises snowdrop," began here Nov. 1. Participating in the four-month training session are men and officers of the famed 82nd Airborne Division, Ninth Airforce troops and troop carrier command personnel, all comprising the 505th Airborne Combat Battalion.

Owner of Hotels
Dies in Marquette

Marquette, Dec. 10 (P)—Leon A. Degelman, 46, owner and operator of the Ojibway and Park hotels in Sault Ste. Marie, and Scott hotel, Hancock, and operator of the Northland hotel, Marquette, died here yesterday after two days' illness. He was past president of the Michigan Hotel Association.

CROSSING WHERE DEATH WAITED—At this C&N.W. railroad crossing with M-69 near Narenta one motorist was killed and another seriously injured yesterday morning. Ralph Lenzi, 41, of Rock, the car driver, was killed. Dennis Cayer, 41, of Osier is in St. Francis hospital with serious injuries. His condition today is "fair." The car skidded into the path of the southbound "400" streamliner, traveling 70 miles an hour, and was carried 150 feet down the track.

COWHAND MUSIC
WORTH $25,000Detroit Symphony Plays
Prize Work For First Time Sunday Night

Detroit, Dec. 10 (P)—The Detroit Symphony Orchestra was rehearsing today on a 51-year-old former Utah cowhand's composition that will be given its premier radio performance Sunday night.

Leroy Robertson, Brigham Young University music professor who wrote "Trilogy" in the Rocky Mountains where he once tended sheep and cattle, will receive a $25,000 prize check for the music from Henry H. Reichhold during the broadcast.

He won the symphonic award last month in a contest for American composers sponsored by Reichhold, president of the Detroit Symphony.

Yesterday he arrived here to prepare for the broadcast, and heard his work played for the first time when Conductor Karl Krueger went through it with the Detroit orchestra.

"Trilogy," begun in 1936 and finished three years later, was submitted hurriedly just before the contest deadline in 1945. Robertson said. During the long wait while judges looked over the entries, he became impatient and asked that his work be returned.

Last September the committee asked him to wait a little longer. On Nov. 2 it announced Robertson's composition as winner of first prize.

The broadcast from 8 to 9 p. m. (EST) will be carried on a nationwide hookup.

France Turns Down
Russian Protest In Mission Expulsion

Paris, Dec. 10 (P)—France ruled today that the terms of a Russian note protesting treatment of Soviet citizens in France and breaking off French-Russian trade talks were unacceptable.

The French charge d'affaires in Moscow, Pierre Charpentier, will be instructed to return the note to the Soviet government, it was announced.

In Moscow, a French embassy spokesman said the five members of the French repatriation mission ordered out of Russia yesterday had received their exit visas and would depart today or tomorrow. They were expelled after the French had ordered the Russians' repatriation mission from France, charging its members with subversive activities.

Mother, 37, Drowns
In Washing Machine

Miami, Fla., Dec. 10 (P)—An autopsy revealed that Mrs. Nora Swengel, 37-year-old mother of four children, drowned in a washing machine following a fainting spell at her home in suburban Ojus.

Mrs. Swengel's body was discovered yesterday by her husband, Oliver, who found her collapsed over the machine, her head submerged in the water and swaying with the agitators.

"She evidently fainted, her head and shoulders fell into the machine, and then she drowned," said Dr. R. V. Edwards, pathologist at Jackson Memorial hospital, who performed the autopsy at the request of the Dade county sheriff's office.

MOSLEM BANDS
SET FOR FIGHTArabs Await Removal Of British To Launch
War In Palestine

BY LARRY HAUCK
Lake Success, Dec. 10 (P)—Dr. Fadhil Jamali, foreign minister of Iraq, said today that the fight of the Moslem world against partitioning of Palestine would begin in full force as soon as the British pull out of the Holy Land.

Commenting on the action of the United Nations Security Council in refusing Arab requests for full debate on the issue now, Dr. Jamali told an interviewer:

"Regardless of what delegates say now, the issue is bound to come up in the Security Council when the general struggle begins."

"Plans are being made over there now for the fight. It will begin in full force when the British end their mandate and begin pulling troops out of Palestine."

Dr. Jamali said he was leaving for Iraq tomorrow, but would be ready to return to the U. N. at any moment if "the interests of the Arab world" demand his presence here.

He indicated the Arabs had no immediate plans to renew their efforts to force council debate again and said that "other delegates may find it necessary in time to initiate discussions."

Dr. Jamali was a spectator at yesterday's council meeting—the first since Nov. 22—at which the United States and Russia teamed up to lead the successful drive against the Syrian demand for "free debate" on Palestine at this stage.

RUSSIAN BUYING
PANIC VERIFIEDSwedish Correspondent
Reports All Stores
Stripped Of Goods

Stockholm, Sweden, Dec. 10 (P)—The newspaper Morgontidningen published today a story by its Moscow correspondent saying that a buying panic hit the Russian capital and other Soviet cities in the last days of November and that by Dec. 8 all stores had been virtually stripped.

The correspondent, Birger Lundberg, now in Helsinki on his way home. His copyrighted story declared that the buying rush was caused by a rumor that the Soviet government intended to exchange paper money soon—Dec. 15 was the date he said "informed" persons gave him—and at the same time abolish rationing.

He said Russian citizens feared their paper rubles might be rendered worthless in the exchange.

(Georgi Malenkov, a member of the Politburo in Moscow, said in a report yesterday that conditions had been created for the "abolition" during this year of rationing in the Soviet Union.)

Lundberg's story said the buying panic hit Moscow on Nov. 29 when residents stormed jewelry and fur shops and the city's biggest department store, buying "all they could get, valuables, fur coats, pianos, furniture."

He said the department store closed "due to repairs" the next day and other shops closed for "stock taking."

Vote Favors Strike
For Western Union
Before Christmas

Washington, Dec. 10 (P)—The nationwide strike vote among Western Union employees is running ten to one in favor of a pre-Christmas walkout for higher wages, the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union said today.

Union leaders will go to Atlanta tomorrow for a session with the heads of two other AFL unions which are planning joint strike action with the CTU if negotiations with the Western Union Telegraph company remain deadlocked.

CTU Attorney Frank Bloom said the strike vote likely will be completed by next Monday.

After that a strike date will be set quickly, Bloom asserted, adding that it "most certainly" will be at the height of the Christmas business. Strike headquarters will be set up in Washington.

Big C-54 Crashes
Into Wilderness;
29 Believed Dead

Westover Field, Mass., Dec. 10 (P)—A big ATC transport plane carrying 29—10 crew members and 19 military passengers—crashed and burned just before midnight in the icy wilderness north of Goose Bay, Labrador. The number of survivors—if any—was unknown.

Stormy weather hampered rescuers who set out at dawn today by ground and air after a ninth airforce reconnaissance plane sighted "scattered, burning wreckage."

PUBLIC SCHOOL
AID 140 MILLIONPossibility Of New Tax
Levies Foreseen By Dr. Elliott

Lansing, Dec. 10 (P)—The possibility of new taxes to give the public schools what they have been coming under the sales tax diversion amendment was raised today by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction.

He posed a series of questions in a letter to the citizens committee he named to draft a new state school aid law at Governor Sigler's request.

Leading off the list was Elliott's assumption that the committee would draft a bill obeying the state supreme court's recent opinion upholding the legislature's "single school district" plan. By that plan the lawmakers charged the cost of certain state educational programs against the public schools' share of the sales tax money.

Obeysing the court's mandate, Elliott wrote, would mean the school bill this year should be $80,000,000 to $90,000,000 this year instead of $70,000,000. Next year, he estimated, the total state support for schools would be $140,000,000, including $125,000,000 state aid to schools and the cost of the other programs, mostly $11,500,000 for teachers' pensions.

Wreckage of Plane
With Human Bones
Hunted In Oregon

Pendleton, Ore., Dec. 10 (P)—An army ground party planned to search the snowbound Blue Mountains south of here today for wreckage of an airplane reported by a hunter who said there were human bones in the debris.

An army air rescue plane from McChord Field, Wash., carrying 7 men and a jeep, was prevented by snow from landing here to start the search yesterday.

CAA officials are puzzled by the report, and at Portland, E. S. Leach, senior CAA inspector, said the wreckage may be that of a crashed plane previously located. The CAA has no record of a plane missing in the area which answers the twin engine C-45 description given by the hunter, Henry Davenport, Silverton, Ore.

A number of wartime aircraft disappeared during flights over the rugged Coastal and Cascade Mountains have never been cleared up.

Santa, 69, Promises
Detroit Judge He Will Be Good Boy

Detroit, Dec. 10 (P)—Santa Claus, who appeared before Recorder's Judge Joseph J. Gillis under the name of William Gallagher, was free of a drunkenness charge today—but only because he promised to be a good boy until Christmas.

Police who arrested the 69-year-old Gallagher early yesterday told Judge Gillis they found him trying to climb down a non-existent chimney on Michigan avenue.

"Your honor, I am the spirit of Santa Claus in a hardware store," explained Santa-Gallagher, still wearing his red suit when brought before the jurist.

"You seem to have been quite full of other spirits' last night," retorted Gillis. "But I know this is your busy season. I'll suspend sentence if you won't tangle with any other spirits."

Santa agreed.

HOUSE CHOPS

EUROPEAN AIDREPUBLICANS MAP
THEIR OWN WAR
ON INFLATION

Washington, Dec. 10 (P)—Republican congressional leaders agreed today on a four-point anti-inflation program for enactment during the present session of Congress.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Steering committee, and House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana, announced the program provides for:

1. Voluntary industry-wide agreements to hold living costs in line. Anti-trust laws would be set aside temporarily for such agreements, and the administration would be given money to promote such a program.

2. Continuation and expansion of export controls.

3. Increase, from the present 25 per cent to 40 per cent the gold reserves required behind currency issues by Federal Reserve Banks; and increase from 25 to 35 per cent the gold reserves that Federal Reserve Banks must carry to support the deposits of commercial banks.

4. Controls over vital transportation facilities, such as boxcars.

Reply To President
The Republicans drafted their program as a reply to President Truman's request for broad powers to resume rationing and price controls if the administration should decide they are necessary.

A draft of a bill covering most of the president's request was presented by Secretary of Commerce Harrison yesterday to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, but Republicans have made clear that measure will get nowhere.

Even before the Republican program was officially announced, it had come under attack from Democrats. Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) accused the GOP of "rubber stamping" for "big business" by proposing voluntary industry-wide agreements.

Taft said a single bill embodying all four points of the Republican program will be introduced in the House immediately by Chairman Walcott (R-Mich.) of the banking committee.

Walcott told reporters he plans to hold hearings on the bill tomorrow and said they should not last more than one day.

Taft and Halleck announced the plan following a meeting of Senate and House GOP leaders in the

Sky Cops Pursue
East Lansing Flier

Lansing, Dec. 10 (P)—The "sky cops" appear to be hot after Gaylord Saxton, a 25-year-old Michigan State college freshman.

Ingham County Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean issued a warrant charging Saxton with reckless flying. The youth was accused of being the pilot of a small training plane which landed on the Pere Marquette railroad tracks near East Lansing Friday.

The plane was pulled off the tracks before the Grand Rapids-Lansing streamliner came along.

Lieutenant William Watkins, the state police air officer who preferred the charge said Civil Aeronautics Administration investigators had been looking for Saxton to probe a series of improper flying charges, including "buzzing" the Grand Rapids area.

Escanaba Jaycees Told To Study City Problems

A former Escanaba man came home yesterday to tell the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce that they have an important obligation to fulfill in their home town.

The speaker was Milt McGuire, insurance man and an official of the city of Milwaukee. He was a special guest of the Jaycees at their monthly dinner meeting last night in the Ludington hotel. "You must have the interests of Escanaba at heart," he told the Jaycees. "Study your city's problems from the public's point of view, and let your city officials know what you want. If you have some definite ideas for the betterment of the city, by all means tell your councilmen. Fight for what you know is right."

McGuire, who left Escanaba more than 20 years ago, has made a name for himself in Milwaukee city affairs, serving as alderman and at the present time as president of the city council. He pointed to achievements of the Milwaukee Junior Chamber of Commerce, and added that Escanaba's organization can do the same type of work here.

"Eliminate racial or religious prejudices in your city planning," he urged. "It makes no difference WHO brings up an idea—the main thing is, it's good, back it up to the limit."

Organized labor in Milwaukee has sometimes "forced the issue" on legislation that is not for the good of the city, McGuire disclosed. The Junior Chamber of Commerce could well make it a project to keep unions under control, if and when they appear to be promoting something that could be detrimental to the city, he said.

Also present at the dinner meeting were several city officials, including Mayor Marvin L. Coon, city manager Arthur V. Aronson, and councilman Sam Wickman.

Mr. Aronson reported, in answer to a committee's question, that more public rest rooms in Escanaba were impossible until the new city budget is set up.

Other Jaycee activities discussed were ticket sales for the Town Hall concert; a plan to aid the Army recruiting service early in January; and the Jaycee Christmas party which will take place December 29.

County Red Cross To Put On Weekly Radio Broadcasts

Marjorie Reynolds, Hollywood screen star, portrays the part of Marie, a young wife and mother, whose home and hopes are smashed by a sudden, terrific explosion. In this week's dramatization of the Red Cross series, "In Your Name," to be heard at 3:30 p. m. on Thursday over radio station WDBC.

Marie had great plans for her family and home—a home which her husband, Al, had built by hand, piece by piece. Then one morning that home became a heap of rubble and ruin—her husband was missing—her children were begging for their daddy. How help came to this mother and how a home with a "chimney for Santa to come down" on Christmas was provided makes one of the great stories of how the American people help each other.

The "In Your Name" series is a weekly presentation of Delta County chapter of the American Red Cross and is heard over radio station WDBC Stars of stage, screen, and radio are featured on these programs.

Pole Claims U. S. Bride He Won While Souvenir Shopping

Detroit, Dec. 10 (P)—A 25-year-old Polish mechanic—the first war bridegroom—“from his country”—was on his way here today to marry the former army nurse whose heart he won in a whirlwind courtship that started with a souvenir shopping trip.

Tadeusz S. Laturski was able to leave Ellis Island at New York yesterday after his fiancée, former Cecilia M. Mitoray, 24, of Detroit, posted a $500 bond with immigration authorities.

The young bridegroom-elect was allowed to bring but $13 with him when he came to this country to marry Miss Mitoray, and he had $9 of it left when he landed Saturday on the motorship Satory.

He expected his bride to meet him then, he said, and had a bouquet ready for her, but through a cablegram mixup she was not on hand. Later, she decided to remain in Detroit to await his arrival in order to have money for their future.

The couple met last March in Cracow when Lt. Mitoray, visiting relatives while on leave from her post in Germany, had trouble with her Polish while souvenir shopping.

Laturski helped her out, took her dancing, and they became engaged within 24 hours.

STATE OLD AGE PENSIONS

Replying to Rep. Roy Jensen's article in the Press dated Nov. 26, in which you state that it is not injurious to the old people.

No, dead men do not feel or know, at least I have found none, but our good old fathers and mothers alive are given a heartache by the penalizing act Senate Bill No. 268 which you voted "Yes" on.

I challenge your interpretation and your sense of justice by asking you pertinent questions, I or we shall be glad to have your reaction in public debate or in writing further.

Why are Old Age Recipients asked to sign applications, which state they understand and agree to the above? Which states they agree to the Probate proceedings to grant return of moneys paid them upon their deaths? Why does the Act, specify "Real or Personal property of the recipient?"

Why does the Act specify that no one is entitled to Old Age assistance, if they transfer their holding within five years from that date, if the County and state do not intend to make a claim upon the property of the deceased?

Why does the Act state "effective Oct. 11, 1947 and yet in its wording it is "That which has been paid out during the LIFE-TIME of the recipient" if no back allowances are to be considered in the final settlement?

Why does the Act specify, that upon the death of the spouse of the deceased, the claim becomes effective?

Where is there mention made in the act about the hardship it will create upon heirs, and such will be considered?

Why has the caseworker suggested to these people that they had better see her, if they want to sell when they became aggravated.

Why does the caseworker deny then assistance of any sort if they refuse to sign to such agreements?

Why should there be $100.00

provided in the act for burial for some?

Why should there be a redeeming from some and not from these who may have wasted their all, simply because they have nothing to take from their heirs?

Why did you not vote as all three measures affecting this Welfare setup revised?

Many more questions could be asked, but one final one.

Would you want your parents to be treated as you voted for the parents of many of our younger citizens?

We deem this sort of legislation criminal toward our Aged citizens who have made it possible for the generations to come after them, to enjoy the fruits of their parents' contribution to society.

Think it over. Change your vote when again you will be asked to consider it this next special session.

Respectfully,

Arnold T. Rossow,
Chairman Townsend Clubs

The Choice Is Ours

THE City of Escanaba is negotiating a contract with a prominent Milwaukee city planning engineer who will be assigned the task of drafting a long range master plan for the progressive development and beautification of this city. This purpose of this program is to provide assurance that the city will develop under a correlated plan that will result in the greatest good for the greatest number of persons in the community.

Turning this important project over to an expert in the field of city planning is sensible, but it is important that the people insist that the master plan will accurately reflect public sentiment. In other words, we must know what we want in the way of a better city and not be content merely to sit back and have someone unfamiliar with our city tell us what he thinks we should have. That kind of a mistake can be as tragic and as costly as the errors that result in the development of a city without a correlated plan.

Cities, like people, have a character of their own. A master plan for development of a city must reflect that character.

In the months ahead, as the plan for the development of Escanaba takes shape, it is essential that we who reside here make known our desires for the future of the city. Only in this way can we hope that what we want will be incorporated in a master plan.

The planning expert can only advise, but it is still the responsibility of the people of Escanaba to choose what they want, when they want it and what they are willing to pay for it.

Printer Strike Spreads

THE Detroit local of the International Typographical union is girding for the same kind of a showdown strike with Detroit newspapers in which their union colleagues of Chicago are currently engaged with the newspaper publishers of Chicago.

The ITU is not showing good judgment in spreading its battle to Detroit before the situation in Chicago clarifies. The Chicago newspapers have been publishing without interruption for nearly three weeks despite the walkout of the typesetters, ingeniously using a photo-engraving process to produce their editions. The Chicago strike, incidentally, is costing the union $75,000 a week, an item of considerable expense that will be increased if the walkout extends to the Detroit papers.

As in the case of the Chicago dispute, the Detroit union is conducting a sham that the issue is one of wages only. As a matter of truth, the more important issue concerns the refusal of the ITU to negotiate a lawful contract. If the union would agree to sign a contract within the framework of the Taft-Hartley act, the wage issue would be settled quickly.

The Taft-Hartley act, however, prohibits the closed shop so obviously no contract can be legal that provides for the closed shop principle. This is the crux of the printers' strike in Chicago and it is also the crux of the dispute in Detroit. The ITU has traditionally operated on the closed shop plan and it is now seeking to maintain the essentials of a closed shop by the use of subterfuge.

An Ignoble Idea

A Wisconsin pastor, seeking to stimulate better attendance at his church services, recently instituted what he called a "talk back" sermon, in which the members of the congregation were invited to enter into a discussion from their pews with the pastor on the subject of the sermon. We're happy to note that the experiment was not very successful.

The good pastor may have had a noble purpose, but churches are not debating societies. About the only discussion that the pastor was able to bring forth from his congregation concerned the merits of the "talk back" sermon itself and there seemed to be general agreement that the church members did not go to services to argue with the preacher.

Pension Abuse

AS a result of the Bennett Meyers scandal, uncovered by the Senate war investigation sub-committee, an Army-Navy personnel board has recommended that more than 35,000 officers retired for physical disabilities be reexamined and that pensions for such officers be related to the percentage of actual disability, rather than a flat three-fourths of base pay.

It should not have been necessary to wait until the Bennett Meyers scandal was brought to light to correct this very obvious abuse of the officer pension system. Under this plan officers with any degree of disability could collect a pension equal to three-fourths of their base pay, but enlisted men were entitled only to compensation to their percentage of actual disability. Once on the pension rolls, the officer could continue to collect compensation indefinitely without the necessity of proving continuation of disability.

The Army-Navy personnel board has recommended that all persons now retired for physical reasons be reexamined to determine their present degree of disability and that they also be required to take periodic examinations in the future. If properly administered, this regulation should save American taxpayers many hundreds of thousands of dollars in pensions now being paid unjustly.

RADIO CONTESTS GO CRAZY

(Milwaukee Journal)

Radio guessing contests seem to have reached the absolute limits of the ridiculous.

Even for the ultimate sake of some charity or other, does the American radio public have to be baited and tantalized with promises of fabulous awards for a wholly worthless achievement?

Or do we have to go on and on enduring senseless "competitions" until some radio program offers the whole state of California, a billion dollars a year for life, and a pass through the Pearly Gates to someone for giving the correct answer as to the identity of a "Mr. Shush"?

Some of the contests have become worse than others. And they have become crazier and crazier, month by month and year by year. Many of them have become thirty disguised national lotteries, where chances are "sold" for a donation to a charity, a box top, or a letter about somebody's soap. Getting into studio audiences, or otherwise "getting in line" for some of these radio windfalls, has developed into side rackets. And when "contests" get too tough, the sponsors let the answer leak out; then almost everyone in the country knows the solution and whoever first gets the chance to answer the question is deluged with riches for being so "smart."

Only the big national radio chains and the big radio advertisers can put an end to this silly business. And they should. Or someday they may find that they aren't reaching the kind of people they want to reach at all; also that for every winner that they please, they offend a thousand losers and more thousands of mere listeners who like good entertainment but are getting thoroughly fed up with phony radio contests for story book prizes.

DAIRYING GROWS

(Menominee Herald-Leader)

The Milk Industry Foundation, trying to live up to a statistic to catch the public attention, reports that in 1946 United States milk production would have filled a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and three feet deep. Which led a wag to observe: Since the river would not be navigable by large boats the project seems wasteful. Wisconsin had national leadership in dairying with 2,466,000 cows. Michigan was in eighth place with 1,012,000 cows. In average milk production Michigan was twelfth, with 2,623 quarts. California led with 3,307. Michigan was sixth in total milk production and its cash farm income from milk was $189,677,100.

Menominee, leading dairy county of the U. P. has given up its U. P. leadership in spud growing, has about gone out of sheep raising, hasn't planted a large new orchard in years and has sadly neglected most of its old orchards while it concentrated on milk production. The county is well suited to dairying and its potential in this important industry, while topping the $2,000,000 mark, has only been partially realized. The county now has the dubious honor of having more cows per tillable acre than any of the 3,000-odd counties in the nation. It has too many cows per tillable acre. The answer is not fewer cows, but more tillable acres. They are available here, too; thousands of acres of the upper peninsula's best farmland is in Menominee county and has not yet been cleared.

Some of the folks stranded in a New York subway tunnel walked out covered with smudge. 'Twas a low-down, dirty trick.

LET'S TALK ABOUT PROPAGANDA

Few words in English have had so complete a reversal in meaning and implication as the word propaganda.

This Latin word, a form of propagare, came into churchly usage in the 17th century when Pope Urban III instituted the College of Propaganda, the purpose of which was to educate priests for work in foreign missions.

Until World War I, the word was little used in English. Says the Encyclopedia Britannica, "Before 1914 Germany alone among the great countries of the world carried it (propaganda) on systematically."

By then, propaganda had taken on the meaning, "an attempt to gain credence for statements partially or wholly untrue." During the past 30-odd years the world has steadily deteriorated; so much so that today we very seldom hear it used except as the synonym for lies, trickery, deliberate political machinations, despite the fact that its literal meaning is "doctrine that is propagated."

Now let us discuss the pronunciation. About ten or twelve years ago propaganda popped up in America with a "proe" (to rhyme with "roe, hoe") sound in the first

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New Orleans. — Voluntary rationing of fuel oil and gasoline is to be tried first. Already in some southern states the oil companies are rationing their customers.

Anyone who travels across the country must be aware of one tremendous source of waste. That is in the overheating of hotels, trains, railway stations and all public buildings.

The temperature is ordinarily between 75 and 80. It is not merely uncomfortable. It is downright unhealthy. Doctors have long agreed that overheating is more conducive to colds and sinus infections than underheating. Infections flourish in the overheated atmosphere in which the American city-dweller spends most of his time.

Here is a source of fuel waste that can be checked quickly and with no government red tape whatsoever. The top associations of the railroads and the hotels can agree on a nationwide program to cut temperatures three to five degrees.

—BIG SAVINGS POSSIBLE—
The traveling public will understand that this is a patriotic necessity. I think most people would welcome the change.

The attack on waste should not stop with railroads and hotels. Most schools, stores and offices are overheated. Again it would be a comparatively simple matter to organize a campaign aimed at school boards and retail merchant associations.

From these sources alone the saving should be tremendous. It might be enough to make the difference between a dangerous shortage, with its accompanying hardships, and a reasonable supply for all. And there would be a secondary gain in improved health.

In London I talked with Britain's minister of health, Aneurin Bevan. A former miner—he went down into the mines as a pit-boy at the age of 12—Bevan was talking about the problem of getting more coal out of Britain's mines. At the end of our talk, he said:

"If you in the United States had not gone so far in converting both house-heating and industry to oil, you would have a coal shortage and a serious labor problem in your coal mines today. Instead you have an oil problem and it is worldwide in its scope."

There is potent truth in his words. Now we are only beginning to realize that mounting tension in the Near East threatens the oil supply that our military policymakers have declared essential to America's future security.

In recent months the newspapers have reported the Air Forces and the Navy unable on occasion to obtain sufficient high-octane gasoline for routine training operations. The reason, of course, is the unprecedented civilian demand growing out of the boom.

But here is an astonishing fact that cannot be ignored. In communities remote from the sources of oil supply, there were times last winter when shortages came close to cold and breakdown.

—TOO MUCH OVERHEATING—
There is a large question whether compulsory rationing of gasoline would work in peacetime. It might be easier to ration fuel oil.

But before rationing becomes an inescapable necessity, there are major sources of waste that can be checked with comparatively little effort. A drive should be started at once to curb the tropical overheating that now prevails in most public buildings.

Undoubtedly engineering obstacles stand in the way of a minimum reduction. With a real desire to conserve, however, it should be possible to get around these obstacles.

As a beginning—and it could be done by an order issued tomorrow—let the temperature in all federal courthouses and post offices be reduced by three to four degrees. They are just as overheated as any other place of public assembly.

Then, with that as a starter, the campaign should be carried to railways, hotels, schools, stores and office buildings. The time to begin is now, with the onset of cold weather. We will be healthier next spring if the public hot-houses in which we spend so much time are brought down to a reasonable temperature.

syllable. It is likely that it began as a British mispronunciation (the Oxford doesn't sanction it) and was picked up by certain denizens of our State Department, a few of whom can out-British the British in their manner of speaking.

Let me show why "PROE-puh-GAN-duh" is wrong. Find the word in your dictionary. Note that it is divided into syllables thus: prop-a-gan-da. Now look at all the other words whose first syllable is prop- (do not confuse prop- words with pro- words). You will see that there is not a single prop- word in English with the long "o" sound in the first syllable.

The first syllable of all such words as propagate, proper, property, proposition, is exactly like the word "prop." Propaganda, therefore, is correctly pronounced: PROP-uh-GAN-duh.

People who are well versed in grammar are often baffled by the "one of" construction. When they see "one . . . are" in a sentence they immediately think it is incorrect. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-13, explains the "One of Complex."

'Shucks! What Have I Got to Gripe About?'

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

SANTA CLAUS—The commercialization of Santa Claus has its responsibilities and its handicaps as business is finding out. It is difficult for an agency or an association of business men to replace mother and father as the "contact source" between the children and Dear Santa just before Christmas.

There are too many difficulties that beset the men and women who provide the children with a living-breathing Santa or a reasonable facsimile thereof. Some of these days Santa will turn up his round red nose at the whole thing and stay in his house at the North Pole unless adults are a little more imaginative in their treatment of him.

WRITE A LETTER—In the good old days (at least so far as Santa was concerned) children scrawled a note to Santa listing the things they wanted him to bring them for Christmas. These letters were entrusted to the parents for mailing and, sure enough, Santa called on the appointed night and left all—or at least a part—of the desired gifts.

But in this day and age children are encouraged to write to a dear old Santa whose voice may be heard daily over the radio, or to sit right up on Santa's lap and tell him your wishes in your own words. You can even hang out your red check while you ask him for that electric train.

It is all very materialistic and little is left to the imagination. There were not many children who actually sat on Santa's lap in the "good old days" except in their imagination. It was too risky.

TROUBLES, TROUBLES—Since children have gotten to be on more intimate terms with Santa they are inclined to disappointment unless he makes a pre-Christmas Eve visit. And so with the best intentions in the world Santa Claus comes to town under the sponsorship of business interests that, if they only knew the troubles they would encounter, might let Santa stay at the North Pole.

In the mail today is a letter that inspired this column. It is from a Delta county woman who signs herself "A Mother." The letter follows:

"Would you please print this for some little children of a Delta county farm? Yesterday I went with one of my little sons to get a ticket to take him and his other two sisters and two brothers to the show to see Santa Claus. What did they tell me? 'Sorry, no tickets.' Well, when we got outside my little boy kept crying, 'I want to go and see him too, Mama.'"

"What was I supposed to do? Sit there and let him cry? That's what I did. Oh sure, they gave the tickets out in school—but not in the schools in the county. They let them go after them and when we did there wasn't any. Aren't the children in the county worth as much? So it is no Santa for them. I hope you people in the city wake up someday and give our little ones a chance to see Santa Claus when he comes to town next year."

NOT FORGOTTEN—When "A Mother" advises city folks to give the county children a chance to see Santa it is, we believe, a suggestion that will be welcomed by those who arrange for Santa's appearance in Escanaba. It can be done, although it may require two or more shows instead of one if everyone is to be accommodated.

Perhaps we are encouraging something we have little interest in promoting—the commercialization of Christmas. Our hope is that the good spirit of cooperation between county and city folks may not only continue but grow. If more tickets to more children will do it, we're all for more tickets.

OF GOOD WILL—Santa Claus is supposed to personify the old, the good humor and good will of Christmas. It would be unfortunate if, because of him, there arose misunderstanding and ill will. Perhaps if Santa remained a shadowy figure in childish imaginations, a creature of impossible accomplishment, an over-fed Superman, he would be more real than reality itself.

But if we must have Santa in person, he should be as authentic as possible, so that no illusions will be spoiled. And the occasion of his appearance should be marked by a display of Christmas spirit—kindly generosity and a time of happiness for young girls and boys. Unless this spirit prevails it would be better to have no Santa at all.

Incidentally, we understand that Santa is unable to keep up with the flood of letters he receives to be read over the radio. One child we know is becoming impatient and may write Santa another letter. Even Santa has trouble.

New York, (AP) — Everybody likes to cuddle up with a good book.

But the problem at Christmas is—what book to send? Unless you've gone duck hunting with your boss a lot of times, for example, you should be chary of sending him "How To Disappear For An Hour" or "It Beats Working."

It never is wise to count on an employer's sense of humor. Just to help Santa Claus along we've again compiled our annual checklist of literary offerings and suggestions for:

Doris Duke—"A Woman Of Property."

Any housewife—"The Egg And I."

Rita Hayworth and Orson Welles—"House Divided."

Andri Vishinsky—"The Quiet Hour."

Secretary Marshall—"The Moneyman."

Monhandas K. Gandhi—"The Robe."

The people who say flying discs—"Nothing So Strange."

Princess Elizabeth—"Proud Destiny."

Tommy Manville—"Ordeal Of The Union."

Richard—"Knock On Any Door."

Truman, Stalin and Attlee—"Gentleman's Agreement."

Ex-Postmaster Bob Hannegan—"Do You Know Your Baseball?"

Your mother-in-law—"An Adversary In The House."

John L. Lewis—"The Big Haircut."

Col. Stoopnagle—"Speaking Frankly."

Maj. Gen. Meyers—"War As I Knew It."

Johnny Meyer—"I Remember Distinctly."

Hirohito—"Admiral Halsey's Story."

Mayor Curley—"The Proper Bostonians."

Peggy Hopkins Joyce—"Marriage Is For Single People."

Margaret O'Brien—"Age Cannot Withstand."

The night watchman at Fort Knox—"Free Gold."

Thomas E. Dewey—"Great Expectations."

The college of surgeons—"Inside U. S. A."

Salvador Dali—"Slightly Out Of Focus."

Senator Taft—"Where I Stand," by Harold Stassen.

Harold Stassen—"How To Figure The Odds."

Gargantua—"People Are Funny."

Whiston Churchill—"The Sax-on Charm."

Post-war profiteers—"Big Fat Shirley Temple—A Second Growth."

Jimmy Petrillo—"The Other Side Of The Record."

The American people—"Peace Of Mind."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — It's unwritten tradition that freshmen senators shall be seen and not heard. The present crop, however, is getting more and more restless under Taft leadership, and is clamoring for a bigger voice in party councils. As a result, first terms went into a recent huddle around the dinner table at the Metropolitan Club.

After a three-hour, nip-and-tuck session, they agreed to meet together one evening each week, and present their views afterward to older senators at the Republican policy committee. It was also decided to keep the conferences secret from the press, but Montana's Senator Zales Ecton caustically remarked, "I suppose we'll see a full account in Drew Pearson's column."

Actually it has been the custom for Senate newcomers to lunch together once a week, but this has been more social than business. The new plan to take a full evening and settle down to a serious exchange of ideas was urged by Connecticut's enterprising Senator Ray Baldwin.

"We must work out our ideas together, and present them to the leadership," he declared. This would not cause a cleavage between the freshmen and old-timers, he argued, since a fair cross section of Senate opinion is represented among the freshmen Republicans.

This was soon demonstrated when Minnesota's frank Senator Ed Thyne, ex-governor and poultry farmer, compared the Republican party to a man with one end of a rope around his neck and the other tied to a horse. This is no time, he warned, to swat the horse on the rump.

Thyne referred to the dilemma in which the president's price program left the Republicans. The best politics, he suggested, would be to give Truman the powers he asks and let him hang himself. New York's forceful Irving Ives, a former dean of Cornell university, agreed that this might be the best strategy after all.

—ANOTHER POULTRY FARMER—
But mild-mannered Senator John Williams of Delaware, a grain merchant and turkey raiser, objected with more than usual vigor.

"I would rather take a beating in '48 and stand up for what I think is right," he shook his head, "than sit back and play politics."

Sandy-haired Senator Ralph Flanders, a Vermont manufacturer, warned that a meat crisis is inevitable early next year, unless drastic measures are taken. He suggested that the public be placed on a voluntary ration, that a publicity campaign be launched calling anyone unpatriotic who ate more than a specified amount of meat per day. He also urged that restaurants be called upon to reduce the size of their meat servings.

"Too much meat is going into garbage cans," Flanders declared.

"Look at your own plates," broke in Wisconsin's Joe McCarthy, an ex-Marine. He pointed to pieces of meat which the senators had pushed aside on their plates.

The mention of food gave garrulous Senator Arthur Watkins of Utah an opening to hammer once again at his pet idea that the government should buy up the nation's wheat crop. He got little encouragement from colleagues.

Massachusetts' impeccable Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who resigned an earlier term in the Senate to join the Army but still considers himself a freshman, urged his colleagues to support a long-range program of aid to Europe.

"All I ask," he pleaded, "is that you keep open minds until we work out a bill for foreign aid."

But James Kem of Missouri, who usually sees trouble over both shoulders at once, expressed skepticism. He doubted the Senate's ability to work out a practical, long-range aid program.

"It shouldn't be a one-way street," Lodge agreed. "In return we should take scarce materials and air bases."

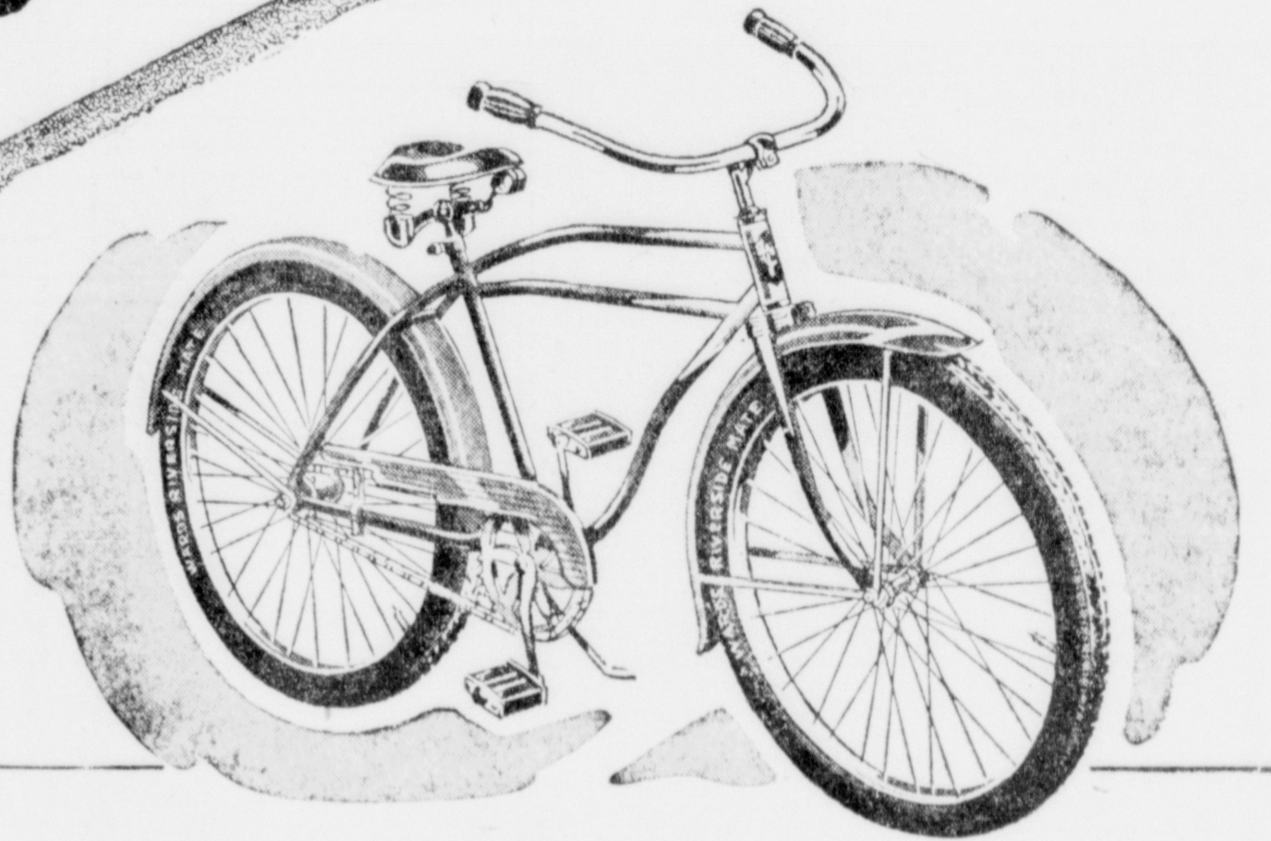

"But," he warned, "we cannot go into economic isolation."

When Senator McCarthy brought up his own pet problem, the housing shortage, handsome John Bricker of Ohio, long-time friend of the real-estate lobby, pooh-poohed the idea of a crisis. Millions of new dwellings are under construction, he declared.

"The housing shortage," he added, "should be over by the end of next year." "Bull!" snorted McCarthy.

B. & P. W. Club Members Enjoy Holiday Party

Forty members of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's club participated in the club's annual Christmas party held last evening at the Sherman Hotel. Beautifully decorated in the holiday spirit, the dining room was a colorful setting for the festivities, which began with an excellently prepared chicken dinner served at tables of eight arranged in a Christmas tree pattern. Red and green lighted candles shed a mellow glow of light over the tables and Christmas gifts and favors at each place setting added to the decorative effect. A recorded program of Christmas music was played during the dinner.

Special contributions made by the members present at the meeting netted $50.00 which will be used to purchase Christmas gifts and food for a number of needy children in the community.

Following the dinner a special cast of the Escanaba Civic Theatre presented a playlet "Escape," under the able direction of Gordon Flath. The playlet, which was an excellent presentation featured Eileen Torphy as "Ellen Morgan," George Beauchamp as "Bill Slater," Charles MacMartin as "Sam Morgan" and Betty Beauchamp as "Mrs. Boshart."

A special group of Christmas songs and carols were presented by the St. Joseph high school Glee Club, composed of Marianne Henriksen, Joan Bink, Valerie Vinu, Veronica Maymich, Mary Lou Greiner, Barbara Skopp, Eleanor Collins, Joan Beauchamp, Mary Ann Bartel, Bob Johnson, Charles Baker, Donald Dishneau, Robert Murphy, Dick Eis and William Bowden. Mrs. E. Henriksen accompanied the group.

Club members Belle Bodette, of Escanaba, and Mrs. Vivian Miller, of Rapid River sang a number of Christmas carols, accompanied by Josephine Saykly. The party was concluded with a community sing of favorite Christmas songs.

Mrs. Novack, Chairman of the evening's program which was one of the most successful social events held by the club and she was assisted by Josephine Saykly, Louise Saykly and Mrs. Signe Norbonne.

A brief business meeting was conducted with Miss Alice Potter, club president, presiding, and Mary Newton was unanimously accepted as a member of the club. A letter from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce was read, expressing the appreciation of that organization or the assistance which a special committee of B&P.W. members gave in packing 2,000 bags of candy, fruit and nuts for the Christmas party held for the children of the community on December 6.

"Turrible, Turrible, Turrible!"

Ben Ryder is back! After twenty years in Capital City, Ben has retired and come to enjoy life in the family house on Maple Street.

First thing Ben does is write us complaining how Our Town has changed. "Why, there's no mud in the streets to sink up to your ankles in!" he says. "No pistol feuding in the town square! No moonshine liquor or Saturday night brawls! Nothing to do but settle for a temperate glass of beer in a law-abiding tavern!"

"Turrible, turrible, turrible," Ben says, "How a town can get run down in twenty years!" And then Ben takes his tongue out of his cheek and tells us how proud he is of the orderly, law-abiding atmosphere he finds here.

And from where I sit, you can point to that growing preference for a moderate, wholesome glass of beer as one reason folks in Our Town are so temperate, and neighborly and well-behaved.

GIFT BUSINESS BOOMS IN U. S.

Women Open Shops In All Parts Of Country

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—The closest thing to Santa Claus' headquarters on this earth—if you discount the United States treasury—is a big building at 225 Fifth Ave., down in the old Delmonico sector.

Two Twenty Five is home of the gift business for all of the east and a lot of the west and middle west. Its 11 floors are brightly packed with gewgaws and glimmeracks, wickets, gidgets, gadgets and gizmos. Ashtrays, china budvases, cocktail shakers, salad bowls, lamps, figurines, dishes—all the things that aunt Mame buys when she fires off impossible neckties, are there.

The building, which stands on the site of the old Brunswick hotel, in the heart of what used to be the great white way, is packed and crammed with the products of over 300 manufacturers, representing something better than 1,000 lines of stuff.

It is strictly a wholesale house, and shoots retail customers from its door. Your money is no good at 225—its sales agents speak only to show owners, who come in, gander around, and then order two dozen of this and a dozen of that to be sent to Ye Oldie Rat's Nest.

$700 Million Business
The surge of the gift business from dusty do-funny to big industry is one of the unusual stories of this country. Thirty-five years ago there wasn't any gift trade. Today, I suppose it grabs as much as $700 million annually from the people, maybe more.

The oddest thing about the gift trade is that it's the last business to fade in a depression and the first to come back, even though it is completely frivolous and non-essential to the living welfare of the citizens. Such is the demand for dinguses that the wholesale houses are filling orders now for 1952, and a great many firms still won't take on new customers. This, despite the fact that about 150 new shops open up every week.

The people who run the business have been trying to squirm out from under the name of "gift".

for years. They fancy something like "intimate household accessories" as a descriptive handle for their wares. But they got stuck with "gift" and stuck they are, even though most of the articles are bought primarily for personal use and secondarily to give away.

This immense industry started in a charmingly offhand manner. In a way, it is a good example of the American habit of insisting on a combination of function with decoration.

"A collection of ladies," one of the experts was saying, "got tired of wiping off all the old bibelots and trinkets that caught dust in the corner when not and weren't worth a damn for anything else. Some inspired dame got the idea of planting a clock in the China idol's navel and boom—gift business."

The backbone of the industry is planted firmly in one wonderful, if erroneous, conceit. There is no woman alive who does not consider that she has perfect taste... and that, given the chance, she would make a marvelous proprietress of a gift shop.

Many Gift Shops
All over the land, for the past three decades, nice wider-ladies have taken the $2,000 that remained after they planted na-empted the attic, and started Ye Oldie Rat's Nest or Ye Oldie Treasure Trove. Some went bust, but some wound up in Dun & Bradstreet, because of the American female's insatiable masple complex.

There was a time—not so long ago—when the gift rooms in department stores opened on the day after Thanksgiving and closed down on Christmas eve. It's a 12-month operation, now, and it has fanned out to a point where there are few drugstores, bookshops and jewelry stores which don't send a man to 225 Fifth, to order up an annual batch of glass monkeys, voluptuous candlesticks, and sophisticated vases.

The gift industry was perfectly tailored for America. It is the Final Rites Held For Sgt. Senecal At Grand Marais

Grand Marais, Mich.—The funeral rites for the First World War II veteran, Charles L. Senecal, to arrive in Alger county were held in Grand Marais, Thursday, Dec. 4.

The body arrived by train at Newberry, Tuesday, Dec. 2 and was accompanied by St. Sgt. Kenneth R. Emerson of the Fifth U. S. Army.

From the railroad station the body was escorted to the Beaulieu funeral home and escorted to the home by Comdr. E. W. Hiltin of the Hugh Alan MacInnes Post No. 74 and Comdr. Albert Collins of the VFW, Tahquamenon Post No. 4418.

The pallbearers at Newberry were: Richard Brand, Melmon Kerr, Herman Carlson, Neil Lyski and William Spineich. Color bearers were Raymond Bruseau, Melvin Stephenson, logical end-point for generosity, sentimentality, our childish affection for glittery non-essentials, and the fact that most of the thousands of articles are priced somewhere between the five and ten standard and the jeweler's display. The gift business has allowed us to be generous while semi-busted, and to maintain an illusion of opulence which used to be the property of the rich alone.

And it is such a nice thing for the people who run it, especially at this time a year. Because the mark-up from wholesale to retail is a neat, beautiful, 100 per cent.

Charles Kukuk and Alex Wida. Color guards were Dave Taylor and Sanford Mattison.

On Wednesday afternoon the body was taken from the Beaulieu funeral home and brought to the family home in Grand Marais. As the body was laid in state at the home the Miserere and the De Profundis were recited alternately by the Rev. Fathers Andary and La Mothe. In the evening at eight o'clock Rosary was recited by his family and friends, led by the two Fathers.

Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the various Veterans' organizations, friends, neighbors and school children assembled in front of the family home, and escorted the body of the late St. Sgt. to the Holy Rosary church, where solemn requiem services were held. The solemn requiem mass was said by the Rev. G. F. La Mothe, with the Rev. Roland L. Dion of Flat Rock as deacon and the Rev. Thomas Andary of Grand Marais as sub-deacon. After the Libera, Father LaMothe eulogized the sterling character of the late St. Sgt. pointing out particularly his religious tendencies.

The requiem mass was sung by the St. Mary's choir of Hermansville and Mrs. Henry Pettimen and Mrs. Vaudreuil of the Grand Marais choir. The combined choir was under the direction of Mrs. Leo T. Doran, organist of Hermansville. The offertory was sung by Mrs. Armenia St. Juliana.

As the body was removed from the church, a duet was rendered by Mrs. Doran and Mrs. St. Juliana. After the religious rites at the cemetery, Comdr. Ora Endress jr. of Grand Marais VFW Post conducted the Military rites, with Chaplain Felix Pearson saying the prayers and Earl Pell as officer of the day.

The pallbearers were: Vernon

Right now, before the Holidays, your local calls may meet delays

THERE'S nothing your telephone operator would rather do than answer your signal the instant you lift the receiver.

But around this time of year the Holiday rush puts an extra-heavy load on telephone switchboards. So many calls come in that at times every switchboard cord needed to make connections is in use. When that happens, the operator is unable to answer your call until someone else hangs up.

That is why during the next couple of weeks there may be more occasions when you'll run into a slight delay before you hear the operator's familiar "Number, Please?" But you can be sure she will answer your signal just as fast as she can.

Meanwhile, keeping your calls reasonably brief and avoiding the busiest hours—10 A.M. to noon and 3 to 6 P.M.—when you can, will help her put more calls through faster.

Communist Strikes Collapse In France

Paris, Dec. 10 (AP)—France's Communist-hatched strikes ended today after a month of labor strife which brought the nation to the brink of anarchy and contributed to a new rift with Russia.

The Communist-led general confederation of labor (CGT) accepted government terms last night for settling the work stoppages and ordered strikers back on the job. At their peak, the strikes made idle between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 (million) workers in such key industries as coal mining and railroads.

Strong back-to-work movements in many field whittled the total in the last two weeks, but labor leaders estimated 1,500,000 remained on strike at the end.

These leaders said all 1,500,000 had returned or were returning to work today. There were no official figures on the number involved.

No even the most optimistic

Missing American C-47 Plane Hunted Off Greek Coast

Istanbul, Dec. 10 (AP)—American sources said late today they were informed that a United States C-47 military plane enroute from Rome to Athens had crashed in western Turkey, but the four persons aboard parachuted to safety.

The plane was said to have crashed near the village of Sogirlik, in the Province of Balikesir. It was believed to have exhausted its fuel after overshooting Athens, its destination.

Meager reports to Americans in Ankara, relayed here, said the men landed on a hill and were taken on mules to a hospital in the village.

Reports from Athens said U. S. Greek and British planes started a search at dawn for the lost plane.

Parachutes Save Five Airmen From Burning Cargo Ship

Austin, Tex., Dec. 10 (AP)—Five airmen parachuted from a burning U. S. Air Force plane near here late yesterday and escaped with minor injuries.

The C82 cargo plane, enroute from Bergstrom Air Field to its home base at Greenville, S. C., caught fire shortly after taking off at 5:15 p. m. (CST). It crashed in flames on a farm near the Lee county-Bastrop county line, about 30 miles from here.

Bergstrom Field officers said the minor injuries were sustained when the men landed after the parachute drop. They also reported Pvt. Frank T. Fielder was injured slightly in a jeep accident while searching for crash survivors.

HOUSE CHOPS UP STOP-GAP EUROPEAN AID

office of Speaker Martin. They said they hope that the single bill can be enacted in time to permit Congress to adjourn on Dec. 19.

RELIEF BILL SLASHED
Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Congress was giving rough treatment today to both of President Truman's special-session programs—one to stop inflation here, the other to give winter aid to France, Italy and Austria.

In both Houses, Republicans talked of tossing aside Mr. Truman's 10-point anti-inflation program for one of their own.

The bill now being debated by the House already has chopped $7,000,000 from the total. Besides that, it has added China to the countries which would get aid. And now there is talk of cutting even more from the emergency relief funds.

House Majority Leader Halleck (Ind.) told newsmen he thinks a "further reduction" should be made because of the "impact the foreign aid program may have on our domestic economy."

And other House Republican leaders reportedly agreed to trim total to $500,000,000.

Yesterday the House spent so much time debating amendments that a scheduled vote on the bill was delayed.

New Ford Assembly Factory Is Opened Near Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Dec. 10 (AP)—A sprawling, $7,000,000 assembly plant was ready for formal opening today by the Ford Motor Company, and a spokesman forecast early output of 350 vehicles a day for southern buyers.

The one-story plant, with its four and one-half miles of assembly lines, is nearing completion in suburban Hapeville, about eight miles from downtown Atlanta. Its dedication brought to Atlanta Henry Ford II; eight of the Ford Motor Company's top administrators, and scores of general and regional sales executives.

The Hapeville plant, the first of four new units to be completed by the Ford Company, eventually will employ 2,000 persons and will have an annual payroll of $8,000,000. It already has 500 workers turning out pilot models of the new Ford trucks. A company spokesman said production would begin early next year on new-design 1949 Ford passenger cars, on which details are still secret.

Prisoners Protest Food Conservation; Hunger Strike Ends

McNeil Island Prison, Wash., Dec. 10 (AP)—McNeil Island penitentiary inmates ended a two day hunger strike yesterday against food served at the prison and Warden P. J. Squier said President Truman's program of meatless Tuesdays and eggless Thursdays still would be strictly followed.

Announcing the end of the demonstration by an approximate 1,016 of the 1,500 federal convicts, the warden disclosed a committee of three inmates, chosen by fellow convicts, had conferred with him on suggestions for improving the service.

"No rioting or serious disorders occurred at any time during the demonstration," the warden said. He blamed the protest mainly on the difficulty in serving a "varying diet" under the president's food conservation program.

MANISTIQUE

Messiah To Be Presented Sunday Evening At Local High School Auditorium

Handel's "Messiah" by a chorus made up of Manistique people at the high school auditorium at 8:15 next Sunday evening. There will be no admission charge and children will be welcome but they must sit with their parents.

Members of the chorus enthused over the progress made in the rehearsals which have been on since early fall under the able direction of Mrs. James Fyvie and inspired by the lovely music which seems to grow on one the more it is sung, have expressed confidence that this will be by far the best Messiah presentation ever given in the city.

Members of the local chorus, in common with similar choruses in hundreds of towns and cities all over America, Canada and England, who annually present this musical masterpiece at the advent of the Christmas season, find in the singing of it much that is often lost to the average listener. There is something more in it, they say, than beautiful harmonies and Biblical poetry.

There is also an indefinable something which seems to be characteristic of the composer himself.

According to biographers of Handel, this oratorio was produced shortly after the composer

Eleven-Year-Old Admits Burglary Of Local Home

The identity of the party or parties who entered the Anthony Nastoff apartment in the State Savings Bank building about a week ago and made with a miniature cedar chest containing money and jewelry, has been learned.

An 11-year old boy has admitted to the police that he did the pilfering and is now under surveillance of the police but in the custody of his parents.

What disposition will be made of the case is still a problem which defies answer on the part of Juvenile Judge Ralph Mervin as the boy's tender years may bar him from being sent to a house of correction. This being the third serious deprecation committed by the child, however, prompts drastic action. City police who took the child into custody acknowledge gratefully the full cooperation on the part of the child's parents in clearing up the mystery, the mother having called the police when she found incriminating evidence in the boy's clothing.

The boy claimed that while on an errand at the apartment, he came upon the key with which he effected entrance. He said he had entered the place on two different occasions. The chest containing a diamond ring and some other items of jewelry and a few coins was found in the building at the rear of the bank. All but a few dollars were recovered.

Elizabeth Gardner And Carl Ranta Exchange Vows

Miss Elizabeth Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner, Delta avenue, and Carl Ranta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Udo Ranta of Munising, were married Monday afternoon, December 8 in the First Baptist parsonage with Rev. William Schobert officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Chancy Hinkson attended the couple in a double ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a winter white dress with gold accents and a gold sequined Juliet cap with a black veil edged in gold sequins. Her corsage was yellow roses. Mrs. Hinkson wore a winter white dress with gold accents and a white Juliet cap. Her flowers were similar to those of the bride. Mrs. Gardner chose for her daughter's wedding a rust dress and Mrs. Ranta wore black with blue accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of mixed flowers.

A wedding dinner was served for the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. A three tier wedding cake with the traditional bride and groom topping formed the centerpiece. A reception was held in the late afternoon with pink and white tapers and mixed flowers decorating the rooms.

The bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Muskogean and other points in lower Michigan. The bride wore a two piece suit and green accessories. The bride is employed at the Putnam Drug Store and Mr. Ranta is in business.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Just about the time the Escanaba Delta Hardware cagers were looking forward to a nice quiet Christmas—you know, home with the kids doing puzzles they always figure out but that never fail to puzzle you—along comes a challenge for a holiday game.

The challenge comes directly from the Michigan State college campus at East Lansing in a letter signed by Bob Barron, George Shomin, Bob Dufour, Jack Finn, Don Lewis and Mail Sviland—all Spartan students and all former star players at Escanaba high school or St. Joseph's parochial school.

"It would have to be between December 18 and January 1," they write. "We have played a few games together since we have been down here, and we think we could give them a fairly good game."

The attraction would be a good one. Certainly of a nostalgic nature, also, for members of the Delta Hardware team are all former Escanaba high school stars.

And no doubt there are many fans who would go a step farther and say the Escanaba Spartans could do a bit more than just "give them a fairly good game."

Take a look! Barron and Shomin belong to that pre-war era of Escanaba high school basketball when the Eskymos performed creditably. Dufour and Finn belonged to the 1945-46 aggregation which won 17 out of 18 games and clinched the season by annexing the Upper Peninsula Class B championship. Lewis and Sviland saw plenty of service also and reputedly have improved with age.

Finn is a big tall fellow who won't outscore the Hardwares' Bob Ranguette but he'll at least keep him busy, offensively and defensively. If Finn's football injury is not too great a hindrance, he'll be a big help in this special holiday attraction.

All of this, of course, is based on the assumption the Hardwares will accept the challenge. How about it?

Statistics department: Marquette and Escanaba each took 49 shots at the basket last Friday night. . . Marquette made 12. . . Escanaba made 10. . . Much to the surprise of Coach Jim Soli, the Redskins sank 64 per cent of their free throws to 57 per cent for the Eskymos. . . That's a remarkable percentage. . . Fifty per cent is considered good in any league in the country.

To give you some idea of how important free throws are, we give you the St. Joe-Escanaba game. . . Escanaba won, 33-26. . . The Eskymos made 13 of 23 or 56.5 per cent. . . St. Joe made six of 22 or a slim 27 per cent.

Odds and ends: Granted sustained cold weather, the hockey season here looks very promising. . . Bob Grabowski reports 20 players in line for the Hawk club. . . Eleven attended the recent meeting and others have assured Grabowski they'll be on the firing line when the indoor rink is ready to open. . . He hopes to hold the first practice next week. . . A Twin City Amateur Hockey league has been organized in Ironwood and Hurley with Father Edward Mihelich of Ironwood as the prime mover.

John Roxborough, Joe Louis manager, reports the champion was not at his best against Joe Walcott because he overtrained and dropped from 215½ pounds to 211 the day before the fight. . . Walcott's split decision loss to Louis, although the majority of reports indicate he had the upper hand, was really a tough break for Jersey Joe. . . The consensus of the fight world is that Walcott had to win the first time he met Louis if he ever were to win.

Louis has a splendid record in second fights against opponents who have made him stretch a bit the first time. . . Look what he did to Max Schmeling, Billy Conn, Bob Pastor, Arthur Godoy and Buddy Baer. . . Another possibility is that Louis is actually through. He appeared to be when he couldn't finish Walcott in the ninth round, the only time he clearly had the upper hand over Jersey Joe.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Dec. 10 (P)—After listening to Jim Turner's unofficial report on 1947 Pacific Coast league baseball, this corner doubts that the circuit will achieve major league status or even contribute a few teams to the majors in the near future. . . Turner, who had a good year with an ordinary club at Portland, Ore., figures that it will be about three more years before the major leagues return to normal playing strength and that his league won't have much to contribute next season. . . "The kids will have to come up through the minors from the bottom," he explains. "A lot of fellows who were away in service never will regain their old form. Others had their development retarded." . . Portland's best player, according to Jim, was Pitcher Vic Raschi, sent down by the Yankees, while the top coast prospects are Bob Chesnes and Ed Fitzgerald, who'll go to Pittsburgh. . . "The pitcher, Chesnes," says Turner, "will win if he recovers from an arm operation. The catcher, Fitzgerald, will be good, too, but maybe not this year."

Undue Modesty Dept.
Extract from a letter from Manager Jack Laken, explaining why Chuck Taylor will win the welterweight title from Ray Robinson in Detroit next week: "I am the sole manager of Chuck Taylor, and I wish to go on record that I have done a splendid job with Taylor since signing him when he was still a soldier."

Shorts and Shells
Frank Lane, American Association president, maintains that Duke Snider, who likely will get Dixie Walker's place in the Dodgers outfield, will be a really great ball player in a few seasons. . . Lane, one of the Midwest's best football and basketball officials accepted his usual state of games for this year then changed his mind because of the conflict of baseball business. . . Contrast noted at the grand opening of Al Schacht's "new joint" Monday: Pauline Betz, the dainty tennis pro, and Donna Fox, the amateur bobsledder who says followers of his sport all sing: "He's Too Fat For Me." . . The Lincoln (Neb.) star's Norris Anderson quotes Phog Allen, Kansas U. basketball coach, as saying "all big time teams are professionals, including every team playing in a coming bowl game." Forest high school of Dallas, Tex., had an undefeated record for nine games this year but won only four. Five others were 0-0 ties. . . LOUGH SCORES EIGHT BASKETS

Rouman Five In Front All The Way; Esky Reserves Lose

With Dick Lough setting a scorching scoring pace, the Escanaba Eskymo five overcame a rough-and-tumble Kingsford attack to rack up its second victory of the young basketball season at the junior high gym last night. The score was 42-28.

Kingsford used a zone defense at the outset, which was made to order for lanky Lough, acting Eskymo captain, who dropped in six field goals the first half, most of them from well outside the free throw circle—beyond the invaders' zone of defense.

23-12 At Half

After Lough began dropping them with deadly monotony, the Kingsford cagers switched to a man-to-man and from there on it was catch-as-catch-can, with the Eskymos catching the majority of points, thanks to some effective close-in work on the part of hard-working Jim Deane and Gary Abrahamson.

The Eskymos led, 23-12 at half-time and stretched the advantage to 30-18 going into the fourth quarter.

After his first-half spree, Lough continued to set the pace by chunking one in at the outset of the third quarter and again at the start of the final period to take top scoring honors for the evening with 16 points.

Esky Reserves Lose

Escanaba's floor game far exceeded that of the invaders, who, with a few individual exceptions, lacked deception and finesse. The Eskymos worked the ball in closer, got more shots at the basket and made more.

Galbraith set the scoring pace for Kingsford, tallying 10 points on six buckets and four charity tosses.

Both teams excelled from the free throw line, Escanaba sinking 10 out of 13 and Kingsford going a bit better with 14 out of 23.

The Escanaba reserves suffered their first defeat of the season in the preliminary. Kingsford's Bees chalked up a 37-34 victory, despite Prokos' 13 points and Martineau's nine counters.

Jersey Joe Walcott Wants 30 Percent

New York, Dec. 10. (P)—Jersey Joe Walcott stands to make a pretty penny from exhibitions, personal appearances, radio and writing jobs between now and the time he meets heavyweight champion Joe Louis in a return bout, probably next June.

Walcott's manager, Joe Webster, said today that the Camden, N. J., fighter already had received offers totalling $150,000, and is considering making a South American exhibition tour similar to the junket Louis took last winter.

Walcott will make his first Canadian appearance next Monday at Toronto where he will referee a bout.

Walcott, loser of a disputed split decision to Louis in their 15-round title bout here last Friday night, has indicated the Twentieth Century Sporting club management will have to do some dickering to get him into the ring again with Louis.

Louis said yesterday he would be willing to meet Walcott again on a 40-20 per cent cut of the gross rate. But Webster announced in Philadelphia that his fighter wants 30 per cent "and not a point less."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Magnus Nelson, who passed away three years ago, Dec. 10, 1944.

A loved one from us has gone. A cheerful voice is stilled. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled. God in His wisdom has recalled The joy his life has given. And though his body slumbers here on earth, We hope to meet in Heaven.

Sadly missed by

MRS. ALMA NELSON AND FAMILY.

CARD OF THANKS

In grateful acknowledgement of your kind assistance and sympathy extended to us during the funeral ceremonies of our loved one, S. Sgt. Charles L. Senecal. We wish to express our thanks to the Rev. Fathers, the combined choir, the VFW of Gould, Marais, the American Legion and American Disabled Veterans of Munising, the VFW and the American Legion of Newberry, those who offered car service, to the places of business and the school superintendent; also to the VFW Auxiliary and to all those who helped to alleviate our burden of sorrow.
